FIRST LESSON

The shorthand forms are to be written in the first blank column; the next column is for the teacher's corrections. When the corrections have been made, copy the outlines in the wide space at the right-hand side, writing each as many times as possible.

Write the shorthand forms on the first line; leave the second line blank for corrections; after the corrections have been made, practice the corrected forms on the third line.

The team cannot drag the hay rake. He will not clean not eat the grain. He will not go in our train. Henry Please ask Mr. Smith if he will speak at the next meeting. The judge states that the sale will take place very soon. The company seems to think that the desire for these goods will increase. In this instance the odds are in our favor. I was there when the speech was made.

story will astonish the natives. Leases are not usually signed at

We believe that we shall be very successful in carrying out this plan. The first step will be to get some time for you to see before attempting the rest of the trip. The organization of merchants will be done this week. Finally, you may not get the first certificate until the end of the term. The results will not attempt to extend the term

I feel certain that the new ledger will suit you. The merchants will charter a boat for the journey. The margin

The new arrangement will be satisfactory to the officials of this corporation. Please call to-morrow about the mortgage on that house.

The newspaper will not publish a notice about this particular industry. What has become of that correspondence about the fall stock?

Her letter yesterday said that I had enough experience to go on as an editor, and that I was the only one who had experience in writing, please

I will teach you how to determine the quality of this kind of goods. My principal object is to give the business to the firm that can deliver the goods on time and in any quantity which we desire. The value of each object is plainly shown on the ticket.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a letter or a page from a manuscript. The text is written in a fluid, connected style with various flourishes and ligatures. It appears to be a personal or official communication, possibly in a historical or literary context.

Below the main body of text, there are several lines of faint, illegible handwriting. These lines appear to be either bleed-through from the reverse side of the page or very light, faded text that is difficult to decipher. The script is consistent with the one seen in the main body of the page.

Someone told me that the director would be here at this hour but I cannot find anyone who knows his whereabouts. Wherever I go I get about the same report, whereas I looked for a very different state of affairs.

The inclosed pamphlet tells of our preliminary plans for the association.

I regret to say that I cannot write you in regard to the matter to-day. You will hear from us from time to time about the growth of the business. We are sorry that he did not take advantage of this opportunity. You ought to receive a reply to your letter in a day or two. If you want full particulars of the work, you will have to ask the teacher of the class for them. We hope that the state of the market will be improved by the end of the week. I would like to favor your customer but I do not believe that I can do anything for him now. I read the book line by line and page by page, but I saw nothing in it in reference to this matter.

They killed the goose that laid the golden eggs. Who is responsible for this disagreement? The error to which you refer was a misprint. You may place this folder in his personal file. We are planning to revise this book next year. You may depend upon it that work will be begun soon. The town is some distance from the railway station. The manager is eager to secure the adoption of the new system. I wish to stop the train but I cannot attract the attention of the guard. The purchaser decided to appeal the case in the hope that he could reverse the decision of the court. Perhaps you can get permission to reprint this pamphlet if you give proper credit to the author.

This keen competition makes strict economy necessary. At the conclusion of the course you may receive a complete certificate. We will use incandescent lights throughout the building. If you wish to accomplish anything, you cannot afford to be late. The consolidation will enable the firm to expand its furniture business. The explosion occurred soon after the excursion boat had left the dock. His independence may force us to dispense with his services. You will be recommended for an increase in salary at the beginning of the year. Congress will appoint a committee to investigate the commerce of the different divisions of the country.

We will gladly replace all defective stock. The trunk is guaranteed to be indestructible. The child died from lack of nutrition. Many new patterns have been introduced since our interview. The extravagant ideas of the electrician cannot be carried out. There will probably be some time gained through centralizing the work. The instructor made an extraordinary contribution to the literature of the subject. Our policy of non-intervention will have to be abandoned. As the order was given contrary to instructions, it will be countermanded. It is extremely important that there be no interruption in the alterations on the interior of the Metropolitan Building.

The surgeon made a superficial examination. The boy constructed a multiplane kite. There is no untransacted business on hand. Mr. McDougall behaved very magnanimously under the trying circumstances. The electromagnet was used to lift the heavy rock. Please insert a paragraph about the increase in circulation in the next issue of the newspaper. You may counteract or neutralize the effect of the poison if you take an antidote immediately. The subjects of agriculture and transportation are now included in the commercial course. The workers reported that they were overworked and underpaid and they declined to work overtime without extra pay.

This note is payable on demand. We assume that this work will be resumed soon. She seems to consider this extra requirement an imposition. You will have ample time to complete the task in the manner described. After mature reflection we have decided to grant your request. We heard an inspiring sermon on a seasonable topic. This new firm has been wonderfully successful in the short time it has been in business. From your description, I anticipate that you will have no trouble in securing a tenant for your apartment, as its central location is desirable and the rent is reasonable.

11' The work done at the experimental station was exceedingly helpful. We are waiting for a ratification of the contract. The city boy looked longingly at the green fields. Mr. Wellington will be in charge of the certification of the teachers. The advisability of a modification of the article was discussed in the meeting. We shall try to form some satisfactory plan for the regulation of this school. Mr. Rockingham would not knowingly do anything to effect the ratification of the agreement. Mr. Cunningham will send a cablegram to Kensington about the arrival of the steamship.

What security can you give for this loan? The minority must give way to the majority. The leader immediately saw the futility of the plan. If you disregard this clause, your contract will be automatically canceled. What authority have you for that statement? From the standpoint of typography, the book is a work of art. The science of philology includes etymology, grammar, and literary history. For a slight extra charge you may have an automatic stop put on your phonograph. The photographer owes his prosperity largely to the popularity of artistic photography in this vicinity.
